In is not necessarily a very strong proument against the Blockade of this Harbonr by the Chinese Customs, to say that half-a-dozen Chinese who have been convicted of attempted piracy pleaded that they were engaged by the Oustoms authorities. The Blockade of the port, so far as native craft are concerned, is probably the best known fact in our Colonial history, especially amonget the boating population; and there is nothing very remarkable in this plea in defence having been advanced. It has been suggested to us, however, that there is a possibility that those making use of the waters of the Colony for the purposes of husiness may have others to deal with than the author zed Customs people, who in themselves are bad enough. We have heard of Chinese flugs linving been borrowed before now from native mandarins and used for the most illegal purposes possible; and cases have not been unknown where petty mandarins have gone shares in piratical eneculations. It would be interesting to know, therefore, whether the Executive took any steps to test the truth of the allegation made in this case of the Li Ching steam-launch. Six Chinese have been convicted and sentenced upon the assumption that the Chinese Customs had nothing to do with the prisoners: and there is every likelihood that the verdict was correct and the sentence (it might have been heavier) fully justified. Still it would be satisfactory to learn where that Chinese flag came from and whether those who sailed under it were not buccaneers in the employ of some petty, dishonest mandarin. In the course of the trial the first prisoner, Ng Shing, asked His Honour, Mr. Justice Snowden, to send a despatch to the Governor-General of the Kwangtung province, mentioning the names of several of the native officers connected with the launch; but upon this suggestion the learned Judge properly

"T. M." says-The question is, can the puzzle be solved when the last three figures are 13 15 14, or, more simply, when the last two are 15 14 (because 13 is now right)? It is generally allowed that this is impossible, and M. M. U. Wilkinson's explanation in the Queen agrees with the conclusion I had arrived at-viz, that all the permutations of this nuzzle resolve themselves into two sets, the one of which is possible of solution, the other impossible. In other words, the one finishes with 14 15, the other with 15 14. Let any player start with the position 15 14 (that is to say, with all other numbers inference—oysters Leing proverbially si- duce a keen appetite, but it is as well to ed the puzzle (which has not yet been done). lent, and, like dead men, telling no tales satisfy that in a way from which pleasure Further, let the player construct a little To Victoria Gar (to Level of Umbrella -that all of the bivalves in that region, is derived, and from which neither "Game of Three" in the corner of four spaces, viz:- 1 1 2 Within that space he will have the 2 permutations 1 2 3, 2 3 1, 3 1 2, 3 int nothing more.

Of these two sets of permutations, no single permutation can be brought to that of any one of the other set by the rule of the game. but only by lifting a number in the manner indicated. Let the player now construct a little "game of eight" with the first eight numbers within a square of nice spaces. another voyage. Her destination will be and start by arranging the numbers correct-China and Japan. Only Prince George of ly as he would wish to finish, except the Wales will proceed upon this voyage—it last (8, 7 in place of 7, 8). Let him now having been decided that his brother, work 6, 8, 7 to the little "four square" Prince Albert Victor, shall at once enter already indicated, and he will observe that it is impossible to get 8, 7 right within that space except by lifting out a block, or disturbing the right position of 6. Let him now work with the whole eight numbers in the "nine square," and he will be no better: or the whole 16 in the "sixteen square," and the result will be the same. The Game of Fifteen, therefore, resolves: itself luto a "game of three" in a square of four spaces, or a "game of eight" in a square of nine spaces the larger the square upon which it is based the greater apparent complexity at first sight. THE CHINA REVIEW. THE widely-expressed regret at the dis-continuance of Notes & Queries on

China and Japan, has induced the publishers of this journal to issue a publication similar in object and style, but slightly modified in certain details.

The China Review, or Notes and Queries on the Far East, is issued at intervals of two months, each number containing about 60 octave pages, occasionally illustrated with lithographs, photographs, woodcuts, do., should the papers published domand, and the circulation justify, such extra matter.

The subscription is fixed at $6.50 postage paid, per annum, payable by non-residents in Hongkong half-yearly in advance.

The publication includes papers original and selected upon the Arts and Sciences, Ethnology, Folklore, Geography, History, Literature, Mythology, Manners and Customs, Natural History, Religion, &c., &c., of China, Japan, Mongolia, Tibet, the Eastern Archipelego and the "Far Last" generally. A more detailed list of subjects upon which contributions are especially invited is incorporated with each number. Original contributions in Chinese, Latin, French, German, Spanish, Italian or Portuguese, are admissible. Endeavours are made to present a resumé in each are made to present a resume in each number of the contents of the most recent works bearing on Chinese matters. Great attention is also paid to the Review department

Notes and Replies are classified toge-ther as "Notes" (head references being given, when furnished, to previous Notes or Queries), as are also those queries which though asking for information, furnish new or unpublished details concerning the matter in hand. It is desirable to make the Queries proper as brief and as much to the point as possible.

The China Review for July and August, 1875, is at hand. It says that forty-two essays were sent in to compete for the best paper on the advantages of Christianity for the development of a State. All our learn-ed societies should subscribe to this scholarly and enterprising Review. It is a sixty paged, hi-monthly, repertory of what scholars are ascertaining about China. The lecture on Chinese Poetry in this volume is alone worth the price of the Review. Address China Review, Hongkong.—Northern Christian Advocate (U.S.)

Trubner's Oriental Record contains the following notice of the China Review :-- "This is the title of a publication, the first number of which has lately reached us from Hongkong, where it has been set on foot as in some respects a continuation of Notes and Queries on China and Japan, the extinction of which useful serial a year or two ago has been much regretted in Europe as well as in China. The present publication, judging by the number now before us, is intended to occupy a position, as regards China and the neighbouring countries, somewhat similar to that which has been filled in India by the Calcutta Review. The great degree of attention that has been bestowed of late years upon the investigation of Chinese literature, antiquities, and social developments, to say nothing of linguistic studies, has led to the accumulation of important stores of information, rendering some such channel of publicity as is now provided extremely desirable; and contributions of much interest may fairly be looked for from the members of the foreign consular services, the Chinese Customs' corps, and the missionary body, among whom a high degree of Chinese scholarship is now assiduously cultivated, and who are severally represented in the first number of the Review by papers highly creditable to their respective authors. In a paper on Dr. Legge's She King, by the Rev. E. J. Eitel, to which the place of honour is deservedly given, an excellent summary is presented of the chronological problems and arguments involved in connexion with this important work. Some translatious from Chinese novels and plays are marked by both accuracy and freshness of style; and an account of the career of the Chinese poet statesman of the eleventh century, Su Tung-p'o, by Mr. E. C. Bowra, Is not only historically valuable, but is also distinguished by its literary grace. Beside notices of new books relating to China and the East, which will be a useful feature of the Review, if carried out with punctuality and detail, we are glad to notice that "Notes" and "Queries" are destined to find a place in its pages also. It is to be hoped that this opening for contributions on Chinese subjects may evoke a similar degree of literary zeal to that which was displayed during the lifetime of its predecessor in the field, and that the China Review may receive the support necessary to insure may receive the support necessary to insure its continuance. The publication is intended to appear every two months, and will form a substantial octavo magazine.

This paper is now issued overy day. The subscription is fixed at Four Dollars per annum delivered in Hong-kong, or Seven Dollars Fifty Cents in-kong, or Seven Dollars Fifly Cents including postage to Coast ports.

It is the first Chinese Newspaper cost issued under purely native direction. The chief support of the paper is of course derived from the native-community, amongst whem also are to be found the guaranters and securities necessary to place it on a business and legal footing.

The projectors, basing their estimates upon the most reliable information from the various Ports in China and Japan,—from Australia, California, Singapore, Penang, Salgen, and other places frequented by the Chinese,—consider themselves justified in guaranteeing an ultimate circulation of between 3,000 and 4,000 copies. The advantages effered to advantages are therefore unusually great, and the foreign community generally will find it to their interest to avail themselves of them.

The field open to a paper of this descrip tion—conducted by native efforts, but progressive and anti-obstructive in tone— In almost limitless. It on the one hand commands. Chinase belief and interest while on the other deserves every aid that can be given to it by foreigners. Like English journals it contains Editorials with Local, Shipping, and Commercial News and Advertisements.
